

No-Till Planter Setup Workshop

Over sixty (60) landowners from Gibson, Pike, Vanderburgh, Posey, and Warrick Counties attended the workshop on Tuesday, August 2nd at the Jeff McGuire farm in Warrick County.

Speakers included: Barry Fisher, Natural Resource Conservation Service (NRCS) who spoke on “Practical Cover Crop Integration” and provided information on “Setting up your Planter for No-Till Success”, Kevin Rayburn discussed “Have You Considered Gypsum?”, Jerry Schenk provided information on Precision Farming, and Roger Kult,

Assistant State Conservationist, provided information on the “Farm Bill Future and What it means to a Farmer and how it impacts NRCS programs”.

The workshop was made possible by a Clean Water Indiana (CWI) grant thru the Indiana State Department of Agriculture and the Gibson, Posey, Vanderburgh, Pike, and Warrick County SWCDs.

Many thanks to all the speakers as well as Jeff McGuire and family for hosting the workshop, Ken and Yvonne Hunt for preparing the pork chops and Brodbeck Seed (Darrell Oxley and Al Schmitz) for sponsoring the lunch. Thank you to Darrell Rice, District Conservationist in Vanderburgh County for emceeding the workshop.
